

Tuentos de terror:

1. Remember to stay simple. You are not yet able to tell stories in Spanish as well as you can in English. Simplify it down to the most basic level – simple sentences, simple ideas.
2. Please don't use a dictionary. The words on this sheet should be enough, when combined with what you already know.
3. Pay careful attention to rules (word order, verb conjugation, adjective agreement, etc.) You can write well, if you are careful and work together.
4. As a group, you will write a short story (1-2 pages maximum) and then one of you will read the story while the others act out, make sound effects, etc. Your goal with telling the story is to be understood, even by someone that doesn't speak Spanish very well.
5. Have fun!
